Self-Assessment for Volunteering as a Team with Intermountain Therapy Animals (ITA)

Thanks for your interest in Intermountain Therapy Animals and in volunteering with your animal. Working with animal-assisted interactions since 1993, we at ITA have come to realize that it is a complex and demanding kind of volunteering—but it offers incalculable rewards for those people and animals who are well-suited for it. For example, people are often surprised at the commitment required—both in time and finances. And they are also often surprised that, while all pets are marvelous personal and family therapists, very few actually desire to provide this service to strange people in strange places on a regular basis.

PLEASE NOTE: As of June 1st, 2017, ITA is no longer accepting service, assistance or emotional support dogs to become therapy animals. We are committed to the wellbeing of both animals and people, and we feel that it is asking too much of any dog to subject him or her to the stress and emotional pressure of more than one of these huge and challenging jobs.

Take this self-assessment to determine if both you and your animal are ready to proceed. Please plan to bring your completed assessment with you if you decide to come to our offices for an interview.

1. What kind of animal do you want to volunteer with?

Dog Cat Horse or Donkey Bird Guinea Pig, Rabbit, or Rat

About You

2. Do you have the time to work with your dog on a regular, ongoing basis to teach and maintain the behaviors necessary for making safe and effective visits (an hour a week could be a reasonable amount of time)?

Yes Not sure No

3. Do you have the time to commit to keeping your animal thoroughly bathed and groomed for your visits? Or the money to have a professional groomer do it?

Yes Not sure No

Unlike many kinds of volunteering, there are fees associated with becoming a registered therapy animal team because of the extensive training and education required. They include:

- Handler Course: $110
- Vet visit to complete the Animal Health Screening Form: $60-300 (varies)
- Team test: $40
- Registration Fee/Annual dues to Intermountain Therapy Animals: $75

You will also need to re-test with your partner every two years, including an updated veterinary health screening and evaluation.

4. Are you willing to pay fees to ITA and to your vet to volunteer?

Yes Not sure No
